Important Information on Your Transitional Crowns, & Bridges

Congratulations! You have just gone through the preparation stage of your new oral rehabilitation.
As with any cosmetic surgery, your results are nowhere near complete.

Here is what we have done to this point:

- We have begun to rebuild your teeth and oral function.
- We have prepared your teeth for the treatment crowns.
- We have placed interim crown and bridges to protect your teeth and gums until the final restorations are completed.

Here is what is remaining to do:

- We must allow the teeth and gums to heal. If you are undergoing periodontal (gum) therapy, you may begin that treatment now.
- We must see you without any anesthetic to assess the shape, and bite.
- We must record your likes and dislikes.
- We must translate that information to create your restorations.
- Teeth with deep or infected cavities will need root canal therapy before we finish.

Gum Care – Is Essential for the Success of Your Case or it Will Fail!
You must brush and floss carefully to maintain cleanliness. Bridges or teeth joined together need floss threaders and Superfloss.If gums are tender to brushing and/or flossing, warm saltwater rinses will promote healing. Clean the treatment area for 30 seconds with the small brush dipped in the prescription rinse 3 times per day – minimum! Gums that are not kept clean become easily infected causing an increase in discomfort, prolonged healing, and compromised results.  You cannot miss your scheduled maintenance visits.

Warranty: Your transitional crowns are designed to last 3 months, after that period of time they made need to be replaced at an additional fee. Date of placement: __/__/__

_____ ___/___/___
I acknowledge this warranty Date

If there is sensitivity of your teeth or bite, there is a reason for that. Don't panic. Please call the office and we will see you as soon as humanely possible.
